NEIGHBORHOOD NOTES.

Greenbackville.

It is now very seasonable in this section of the county, and growing crops are looking much better than they did a short time ago.

All of the people here, that were so recently made sick by eating ice cream, have about recovered, except Mr. Tarr, at Franklin City, and he is reported to be rapidly convalescing.

On last Saturday night some thief or thieves paid their respects to the premises of Mr. Major E. Selby, of this place, by breaking into his meat house and henney. They carried off some 75 or 100 pounds of meat and two old hens. The parties left nothing by which they can be identified, but were plainly tracked by their foot prints some distance into Maryland.

Miss Lelia T. Colbourn, daughter of the late Thomas F. Colbourn, of Franklin City, and Mr. Eli Curtis Collins, son of Mr. Mr. Eba W. Collins, of this town, were married here on Thursday evening, June 27th inst., in the M. P. Church, Rev. S. Beane officiating. The church had been handsomely decorated on the inside by the lady friends of the contracting parties with flowers and evergreens. Mr. Bernard R. Powell acted as best man, Miss Henrietta Sharpley maid of honor and the following young ladies as bridesmaids: Misses Laura Laws, of Franklin City, Ida Heathway, Mary T. Collins and Albertine Collins, of Greenbackville. The groomsmen were Rev. W. H. Young, George Sharpley, Harry Collins and Henry C. Conaway, of Greenbackville. The bride was attired in cream Henrietta trimmed with white satin and jewels, and carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses and lilies tied with white ribbon. All the lady attendants were attired in white, whilst the groom and groomsmen wore the conventional black. The church building was filled with friends of the contracting parties long before the hour of 8 p. m., arrived, anxiously awaiting the arrival of the two so soon to be made one, but owing to some delay the party did not reach the church till 8:30 p. m., when the bride party entered the church and proceeded up the aisle to the altar, in front of the pulpit, where the bride and groom elect were met by the minister and according to the beautiful ritual of the M. P. Church were pronounced man and wife. Miss May Powell, one of Greenbackville's accomplished young ladies, presided at the organ and rendered that beautiful Mendelssohn's wedding march. After the ceremony the bride party together with a large number of invited guests repaired to the residence of Mr. Collins, the father of the groom, to partake of an old Virginia wedding feast which awaited them and enjoy the charming hospitality of Mr. Collins and his estimable wife. The wedding presents were handsome and valuable.

A pleasant wedding reception was held at the residence of Mr. F. J. Bulman on Wednesday evening, in honor of his marriage, which took place at Parker's Hotel, Pocomoke City, about noon of the same day. The bride was Miss Jessie Hume, late of Hampton, but formerly of this town. Her father resides at present in Central America and no legal consent could be secured to the marriage under the laws of this State. The bride party was accompanied to Maryland by Miss Fannie Mears and John T. Nock, Miss Clara Foote and George Hyslop, Miss Lydia Fosque and A. H. G. Mears. A party composed of Miss Ella Scarborough and John Mears, Miss Cynthia Johnson and J. T. Kellam, and others received the bride party at home. The wedding supper was one of the most elegant ever spread in Wachapreague and was enjoyed by numerous guests who had been invited to do honor to the occasion. Mr. Bulman is a well known and deservedly popular young gentleman, who has been for several years a resident of this town. The bride is a charming blonde whose attractive qualities of person and amiable character, have made her a general favorite wherever known. She was handsomely dressed in a gown of white silk, and among a bevy of girls justly celebrated for their beauty, commanded universal admiration. Many valuable and costly wedding presents were showered upon the happy pair by friends here and abroad.

Maryland Dealer in Virginia Licenses.

Capt. James Costin, of the Virginia oyster navy, while in pursuit of violators of the oyster laws of Virginia on last Wednesday, overhauled two Marylanders, Geo. H. Sterling and J. T. Byrd, of Crisfield, Md., with Virginia licenses, who in accounting for their possession of same, gave information leading to the conclusion, that a Marylander had the novel occupation, of dealer in Virginia licenses. One of the parties, Geo. H. Sterling, whose license is before us, stated to Capt. Costin, that it had been secured for him by one Capt. Jno. Cox, of Crisfield, and that he had paid to said Cox for it the sum of seven dollars. The license was issued under the signature of J. D. Thompson, of Gloucester, Co., Va., bearing date June 21st, 1895, for the ensuing year. Sterling and Byrd both acknowledged that they were citizens of Crisfield, Md., and Cox is known to the people of this county as a citizen of Maryland, with small possessions in Virginia, by virtue of which when it is to his interest to do so he, doubtless, would not hesitate to claim citizenship in this State. About forty of their licenses, Capt. Costin says, according to information obtained by him which he regards as authentic, have been issued to citizens of Maryland.

The Sanctificationists.

A letter from Old Trap, Camden county, N. C., states that the "Sanctificationists," who have gone there from Chincoteague Island, Accomac county, are demoralizing in the extreme. The writer says: "I think if these people stay here much longer half the inhabitants will go crazy. Already two men have lost their reason, the mind of one becoming unbalanced because the church of which he is a member is torn with dissension. The membership of this church was about 100 before the band came here, but now there are scarcely more than a dozen who do not side with the new comers. If they continue their work here much longer, I am satisfied that I will not live long enough to see the evil of their influence destroyed."

Candidates Cards.

To the voters of Accomac: I take this method of announcing myself a candidate for the nomination by the Democratic party for the House of Delegates and for soliciting their support. Fully appreciating the responsibility of the position, I pledge myself to a faithful and conscientious discharge of the duties of the office if nominated and elected. Expecting the pleasure of meeting my fellow citizens during the canvass and discussing the questions most beneficial to them, I remain, Yours truly, O. A. DRUMMOND.

To the voters of Accomac: I hereby announce myself a candidate for a seat in the House of Delegates of Virginia—subject of course to the decision of the Democratic party. If nominated and elected I pledge myself to discharge the duties of the office to the best of my ability. Very respectfully, S. WILKINS MATTHEWS, Assawoman Va., June 26, 1895.

In Memoriam. In memory of John Cleveland Stewart. The dear little boy, aged 11 years and 2 months, fell asleep in Jesus on the 19th of June, 1895, after a long period of patient suffering. His little life was short, but useful in making many friends who were ever ready to relieve all of his earthly wants and wishes. And now that he is gone, they keep his grave strewn with flowers as a tribute of love and respect. We bow with thanks to those kind hearts and willing hands that were ready to do all they could during his illness.

All is gloomy now, My darling boy is gone, God saw fit to call him, To his eternal home. He has left us weeping and sad, His daily loss to mourn; No one can fill his place, Except Jesus and Jesus alone. But we must not murmur, But bear it the best we can, Until God shall call us, And, if faithful, meet him again.

Though his days on earth were few, His little task well done, He never murmured or complained, Though great were his sufferings.

Harmanson-West Camp.

EDITOR ENTERPRISE.—In the last issue of your paper, reference is made to the failure of the ex Confederates composing Harmanson-West Camp, to have the meeting on the 4th of July, for the purpose of raising funds for a monument to our dead; which would seem to reflect upon the few—less than a dozen—who have taken an active interest in the matter. I wish to say in the beginning that your motive is appreciated; together with your aid at all times. When I first suggested a monument, I felt sure of the enthusiastic co-operation of all ex-soldiers, and the assistance of our people, and I still believe that with proper work our object may yet be accomplished. Our first and second meetings were well attended, and all seemed interested; but gradually our numbers became less, until less than a dozen were left, who attended all meetings promptly, and I must say, worked faithfully, but with poor encouragement from the people, when asked for contributions. Some of our most enthusiastic members at first have never shown the least interest since, and some ex-soldiers, so thoroughly reconstructed, I presume, have never been present, but we will not despair, hoping in the near future for more prosperous times, when our people will be better prepared to give us substantial aid. Why should our two counties be behind many others in the State, even those left desolate after the war? It is not a matter of sentiment, but a duty alike to our dead and ourselves, and would be an object-lesson of love for the cause they represented and the principles involved—that they were not rebels, but patriots who obeyed the call of the State and South-land, in defence of their homes, and rights guaranteed by the Constitution. Should we ever erect a monument or not to our dead, their memory will ever be cherished, and the cause they died for dear to our hearts, and—"On a silent tented camping ground, There, silent tents are spread, And glory guards with solemn round, The bivouac of the dead."

Our camp has enrolled the names of all known ex-soldiers and sailors from the Eastern Shore, who served in the army or navy, giving company and regiment, if killed or died in the service, and will have this transcribed and deposited in some suitable and safe place, such as the Confederate museum in Richmond.

Our Camp will have a meeting at Parksley, on the third Wednesday in July, at 12:30 p. m., and we hope there will be a full attendance. We may consider the propriety of joining the United Confederate Veterans, and at least have the pleasure of adding our mite to the proposed monument to our devoted leader, ex-President Davis.
